WARNING FROM ABROAD.

VANKEE WIVES, FOREIGN HUSBANDS

Brutal Treatment of Tenderly-Nurtured American Girls by German Husbands--Fitting Reward For Title-Hunters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.--Joseph F. Potter, our Consul at Crefeld, Germany, has been making investigations in regard to a matter of great interest to our fair countrywomen, and the result of his labors is to be found in a report full of information of the most vital interest. He has been inquiring into the results of marriages between American girls and German nobles, and what he tells us is most startling.

In thirty-three marriages cited there has not only been a single happy union, but either a divorce or abandonment has speedily followed the wedding. He finds the reason for this unhappy state of affairs to be that the American wives have in every instance been brutally treated, and in some cases absolute violence has been used. The brides were expected to perform the most menial offices. In one instance, the husband, who is an officer of rank in the German army, demanded that his wife perform the service usually expected from a servant of the humblest sort, and one of the things she was ordered to do was to superintend the cleaning of his boots. This lady was the daughter of a leading railroad magnate in a Western State, and the story she tells is a most pitiable one.

Her hard-headed father took the precaution at her marriage to settle his daughter's fortune upon her and tied it up in such a way that she could not relinquish its control even if she desired to do so. After many humiliating tasks had been given this lady, the boot-cleaning was required. Then she rebelled. She drew the line there, and with her American blood at the boiling point she flatly refused. Her warrior husband, who, besides his military rank, has the title of Count, attempted to enforce discipline in his family by using his riding whip upon his recalcitrant bride, and after a serious time of it she evaded the flogging and left the bed and board of the knightly Uhlans for her native land. Her husband could not prevent her departure, but tried to compel the payment of a certain sum of money by way of salvage to the wounds his sensibility received by her abrupt departure. He did not succeed, for the lady had no property in the Province that could be held, so she got away without further loss of time.

BENWAY'S BREAK.
He indulges in Delirium Tremens Accompanied By Rize Works.

DEBHAM, MASS., Nov. 21.--Just before midnight Tuesday night John Long, a blacksmith living in a house at Lehigh, owned by A. B. Wentworth, was awakened by Mrs. John W. Benway and son who informed him that Mr. Benway had placed a keg of powder upon the front piazza and had lighted a fuse attached to the keg. Long hastened from the house but dared not go near the powder, the fuse was so short. Shortly after the powder exploded doing considerable damage, but not so much as expected owing to the fact that the powder was insufficiently confined. Benway is supposed to be in a state bordering on delirium tremens. He can't be found.

Died Of A Broken Heart.
Troy, Nov. 21.--Edward S. Wheeler, who was buried on Friday, is said to have died of a broken heart. He was wedded to Miss Marie Lester, of this city, a year ago. When at the Spiritualist camp meeting at Lake Pleasant last summer, Mr. Wheeler advocated free speech and a free platform, and was denounced as a free-lover and was driven from the platform. Though a Spiritualist, Mr. Wheeler was in no sense a free-love advocate. These accusations preyed on his mind and he became ill, pined away and died, his attending physicians assert, from mental rather than physical anguish.

Naphtha Explosion on a Vessel.
BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 21.--An explosion of naphtha occurred Tuesday on the Schooner Nellie Clark, owned by Clark brothers, of New York, and lying at Pipers Wharf. The schooner arrived Monday at Bayonne, N. J. with 700 barrels of refined petroleum and 300 barrels of naphtha. The petroleum had been discharged just before the explosion. The flames quickly spread all over the vessel. The naphtha was valued at $4,500 per barrel, and this with the damage to the vessel, will probably bring the loss up to $25,000, fully covered by insurance.

Clairvoyants Casting Suspicion.
ALBANY, Nov. 21.--The authorities are searching for Peter Quartz, the thirteen-year-old son of Adolph Quartz, of West Troy, who has been missing six weeks. Quartz is living with a second wife, and neighbors assert that he kicked his son out of the house and drove him away. His first wife's relatives claim to have received clairvoyant information that the child has been foully dealt with. Others, however, think the lad is driving mules on the towpath.

Fearful Mortality in a Foundling Hospital.
OTTAWA, ONT., Nov. 21.--The City Council has adopted the report of the Board of medical men of this city recommending that the foundling hospital, kept by the grey nuns, known as Bethlhem for the Friendlyes, be closed owing to the alarming rate of mortality within its walls. Out of 739 children admitted since Oct. 1879, 644, or 87 per cent died; out of a total of 176 admitted last year, 171 or 97 per cent died.

One of Small's Fals Caught.
EASTON, PA., Nov. 21.--Thomas Price, one of the men who escaped from the Belvidere jail with Small, the fasting horse thief, was captured in Philadelphia Tuesday, while at his home. He is the darkey who trimmed the lamps in Small's room. He says Small ran like a deer when once outside the jail and did not seem to have starved much. He, (Price), led Small and Carling at Washington on Sunday night.

Did Not Know He was Stabbed.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.--An Italian named Leiderbelle was arrested in Jersey City on a charge of stabbing Jonas Manmort. Manmort says that he was standing at the corner of Newark avenue and Grove street, when the Italian jostled him, and a moment later discovered that he was stabbed in the side. The Italian was locked up and Manmort was taken home.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.

Cowardice of the Egyptian Troops--British to Interfere.

LONDON, Nov. 21.--The Governor of Suakin has telegraphed to the Khedive that, although the Bedouins were numerically inferior to the Egyptian troops, the latter attempted no stand, but divested themselves of their arms and clothes, and rushed naked into the sea, forsaking the Turkish officers commanding them, who were killed. The Governor urgently demands reinforcements, but says it is useless to send Egyptian soldiers because they will not fight. The Council of Ministers, the Khedive presiding, discussed measures for protecting Suakin and subjugating the hostile tribes. It was decided to enlist Bashi Bazouks, and 150 of them have started for Suakin. Six companies of black troops will be dispatched to Massowah. These will raise the garrison of Suakin to nearly 1000 men. A Council of War, also, will go to Suakin to inquire into the disaster and to punish the guilty. The wildest rumors are again rife respecting Hicks Pasha, owing to the defeat of the Egyptians at Toka. His force, however, and the force also quartered at Toka were entirely disconnected.

THE IRON INDUSTRY.
No Fears of a Panic Entertained by Manufacturers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.--A leading representative of the interests scouts the idea of a panic, and asserts that there is nothing in the present scare. Since last spring many furnaces have been blown out and numerous rolling mills have been put on single turn. A majority of nail mills have refused to overstock the market with their product. In regard to steel rails, only those that can make rails at $21 can afford to run regularly, and the others will have to stop or run only at intervals until the demand increases. It is believed that the production of all leading iron and steel products will be no greater than the demand, and prices will recover when this point is reached. A boom during the early part of next year is, therefore, not improbable. During the present month three furnaces in Pennsylvania and one each in New York, Georgia, Alabama and Michigan, will blow in, all of charcoal, while in New York and Pennsylvania there will be two anthracite and, in Ohio, Alabama, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Tennessee, there will be nine bituminous, in all nineteen furnaces which will blow in this month, while the furnaces which will blow out will be six anthracite, three anthracite, and six bituminous.

Deliberate Preparation for Murder.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.--Mary Van Dyke, a stylish and buxom colored woman, at Jefferson Market complained that her husband, John F. Van Dyke, had threatened her life. Van Dyke is the son of the well-known caterer who died several years ago, leaving his business and about $100,000 worth of property to his son, including a country seat at Princeton. The pair live at No. 6 West Thirtieth street. The house is owned by Van Dyke, but it is heavily mortgaged, he having run through almost the entire property left him by his father. The mortgage is about coming due, and thinking his wife had money laid aside, Van Dyke came in from Princeton, where he had been sporting with the boys and spending large sums of money. He asked his wife to give him the money with which to pay off the mortgage, threatening, if she did not comply, he would kill her. He gave her time in which to accede to his request and left the house. Mrs. Van Dyke procured a warrant for her husband, who carried a loaded revolver, a slung-shot and a razor. He was held to answer.

A Tragedy in Belize.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21.--Intelligence just received from Belize states that an American named John W. Seybert and an Irishman named Wilson recently came there and went up Monkey River to buy lands. Shortly after Seybert returned alone, having murdered and robbed his companion. A searching party went to look for Wilson's body, and when Seybert saw it returning, fearing detection, he ran to a store, purchased a pistol and shot himself dead.

American Clocks Seized.
MONTREAL, QUEBEC, Nov. 21.--The Customs Officials here have made a large seizure of clocks consigned from manufacturers in Waterbury, Conn., to John K. Jones & Co., importers, for being entered in the Custom House far below their actual value. Neither the officials nor importers would give any information as to the value of the goods seized, but it is believed to be under $3,000.

An Alabama Assassin.
TALLADEGA, Ala., Nov. 21.--Richard Simmons was shot through the head and killed while seated at the table eating breakfast with his family. The assassin fired the fatal shot through the window from the outside, and made his escape. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the deed.

Miners Mobbed.
OURAY, COLO., Nov. 21.--A party of forty men, armed and masked, went from Telluride to Cimmaron, and at Marshall Basin took forcible possession of the mine and ordered the men working to leave. They destroyed about one mile of telephone wire. One man is supposed to have been shot and killed.

O'Donnell's Case.
LONDON, Nov. 21.--The counsel for the prosecution of O'Donnell has abandoned the charge that the murder of Carey was deliberately planned, and admitted that the prisoner was probably unaware that Carey was on board the steamer on which he sailed.

Battle with Burglars.
NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 21.--Two burglars entered the house of J. J. Garrett, at New Providence. Garrett killed one of them and seriously wounded the other. During the fight Garrett was shot and dangerously wounded.

California Town Burned.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.--The business part of Dixon, Cal., burned Tuesday night, loss estimated at $350,000.

FIGHTING OR LIBERTY.

CONVICT'S DESPERATE RESISTANCE

How George Brimmer was Cornered, and How He and His Mother and Sister Fought Off the Officers of the Law.

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 21.--George Brimmer, who escaped from the Lancaster County Jail with eleven other prisoners a month ago, was captured in this city after a desperate struggle. The visit of his mother, who lives in Lancaster, to Mrs. Gemberling, her daughter, aroused the suspicion that Brimmer was in the latter's house. Several policemen surrounded the building. The escapee was seen sitting by a window in the rear of the house. As his eyes fell on the approaching policemen he ran up stairs and jumped out of a window, his mother and sister meanwhile struggling to keep back the officers. Two of the policemen pursued him upstairs and general stationing themselves on the outside to intercept him. Brimmer fired two shots through the window at the officers on the inside, but without hitting them. He also discharged one barrel of his revolver at a policeman below but missed him. This shot was returned and the ball grazed the knuckles of Brimmer. He then jumped on an adjoining roof and, passing through the house, reached the street and ran away, while several pursuing policemen fired about a half a dozen shots at him without effect. The fugitive was seen entering a stable a few hundred yards from the house in which he had harbored, and after a search of several minutes he was found hidden under the hay. He was compelled to surrender at the point of a revolver, and this afternoon he was returned to the Lancaster County Jail. Brimmer's mother was thrown into spasms by her son's arrest and her condition was critical this afternoon. Abe Buzzard, the worst man of the desperate gang which escaped from the Lancaster County Jail, came to this city with Brimmer on Monday night and left on Wednesday. Brimmer is only twenty-one years old, had served two years and four months of a sentence of sixteen years when he made his escape.

ST. LOUIS COMPLAINS.
Alleged Discrimination Against Her By the Gould Railroad.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Nov. 21.--The Post Dispatch publishes an interview with a representative stock man, who says that the live stock trade of St. Louis is dwindling to insignificant proportions, on account of the favor which the Gould combination extends to Chicago and Kansas City stock dealers, at the expense of those of St. Louis. Rebates are no longer proffered the commission men to encourage and compensate them for investments made in the way of advance to shippers and growers of live stock, for the purpose of influencing their shipments to our market. Formerly hundreds of thousands of dollars were annually expended in this way, and hundreds of thousands of cattle were directed to this market, which, under such circumstances, would have gone elsewhere.

The Gould r. a. s., which are crossed by numerous other roads have the direct route and the short haul, but freight rates are not made according to the distance over which the freight is moved. The same rates can be had from all these crossings via Kansas City to Chicago as over the more direct Gould roads to St. Louis, though the distance is from fifty to one hundred miles greater. Commenting upon this, the Post-Dispatch says that the power of monopoly is being employed to impede and destroy the Commerce of St. Louis, which, if it is permitted to continue, will ruin the city altogether.

AN EXCITING RACE.
Chasing Down a Runaway Locomotive.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 21.--An engine, with steam up, was left standing on the track of the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad. By some means the throttle was opened, and the engine started off. Some one shouted, "My God, the regular passenger train is due in half an hour." Another engine, with steam up, had just been run into the round-house. An engineer and his fireman boarded it, and then began a wild chase. Four miles out on the track the wild engine was overtaken, and the engineer climbed down upon the pilot of the jumping engine while the fireman graduated the speed so as to run up close enough for him to climb on to the tender of the runaway. The engine was caught just in time to prevent a collision with the incoming passenger train.

Wreck on the Cincinnati & Eastern.
BATON, O., Nov. 21.--A freight train on the Cincinnati & Eastern Railroad left Sardinia for Cincinnati at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. When the train reached the outskirts of Batavia it crossed a forty-foot trestle, some lumber cars jumped the track and smashed the trestle, bringing the combined wreck down together. The crash was terrific and was heard for a great distance. A large force was employed all night clearing the wreck and making a temporary trestle, and not till morning could the passenger train cross, which arrived at Batavia from Cincinnati at 7 last night. The night before the trestle over Elk run burned delaying trains some hours.

Lost Through the Ice.
LAKE CITY, MINN., Nov. 21.--Eric Heegle and Victor Tedholm, young Swedes, living in Stockholm, Wis., skated over here Sunday, and started back that evening, since which time they have not been seen, and it is thought that they broke through the ice and were drowned. The man who carries the mail between this city and Stockholm broke through the ice Monday, but succeeded in getting out. While on that trip he says he saw a man and boy disappear through the ice without coming up again.

A Convention of Irish Societies.
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 21.--A convention of the Irish Societies of the State opened here Wednesday morning, and will continue two days. The convention was called some time ago, and is for the purpose of an interchange of opinion among Irish organizations of all grades and classes as to giving aid and assistance to the men who are struggling for Parliamentary government in Ireland. The convention comprises about two hundred delegates.

SICKENING AFFAIR.

A Girl Shockingly Wangled by a Monstrous Dog.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.--While Susie Kern, aged fifteen, of 30 Belden Place, was in a neighbor's yard, she was attacked by a monstrous Newfoundland dog. He seized her by the throat, throwing her down and dragging her about the yard with great fury. The animal bit the little one again and again, tearing off large pieces of flesh and removing one long strip of flesh from her arm until the bone was nearly exposed. The screams of agony from the suffering child quickly drew a crowd to the scene of the struggle, but no one dared approach the maddened animal until the arrival of Charles Macaulay, a young man living at 1523 Dunning street, who grasped a small hatchet and rushed in and drove the brute from his bloody banquet. The dog turned fiercely upon his assailant, but Macaulay succeeded in keeping him at bay until the child had been rescued. The dog was afterward shot by an officer. Susie was terribly bitten about the head, neck, shoulders and arms. The flesh is torn and mangled most shockingly and there is also a wound on her left leg, just above the knee where the dog tore out a large piece of flesh. Although seriously injured, and suffering most excruciating pains, the attending physician thinks she will not die. All who saw the brave fight made by Macaulay in saving the child's life are loud in their praises of his heroism and coolness.

More Marine Disasters.
HALIFAX, Nov. 20.--On Friday night last the Norwegian bark Ploomendren went ashore on Green Island, near Cape Canso, and all hands except two, the steward and one sailor, were lost. Three of the bodies were washed ashore. When she struck, all hands clung to the mizen mast, when it was carried away and all were washed off. The two who were saved were carried ashore on the waves. Ten were lost, including the captain. Three fishermen, married to three sisters, were drowned near Arichat, on Saturday, by the upsetting of their boat.

THE LONG ISLAND TRAGEDY.
Extraordinary Effect of a Murderer's Blows.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 21.--The excitement over the murder of Mrs. Lydia Maybee and her daughter, at Brookville, L. I., continues unabated. The report that Mr. Maybee had died from his injuries is without foundation. The fact that he has partially recovered his sight is exciting much interest in the medical profession. The doctors generally agree that the blow Mr. Maybee received at the hands of the murderer acted on the optic nerve and restored the sensibility of sight. John McCormick, the tramp who was arrested here on Monday night as the murderer of the Maybee family, has been taken to Brookville. The police have ascertained that he has been confined in the Flatbush Insane Asylum as a patient.

A Body Guard of Maximilian II.
ERIS, Nov. 21.--John Cairo, a soldier in the late war, while on his way from Philadelphia to enter the Soldier's Home at Milwaukee, was stricken with palsy. His papers substantiated his story that he had been a body-guard of Maximilian II while commanding-in-chief of the Austrian navy, also serving in the same capacity while Maximilian was viceroy of the Lombardo-Venetian kingdom. He wore a medal presented to him at the breaking out of the Italian war, for his bravery on one occasion when the Governor's life was in great danger. Cairo was sent to Milwaukee.

A Jersey Prize Fight.
TRENTON, N. Y., Nov. 21.--One of the most exciting prize fights of the year was fought on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware river about three miles from this city at half past four Tuesday evening. The contestants were James Golden and Patrick Scullion, of Philadelphia. Three hundred people were present. Five dollars a head was collected from the spectators before the fight began. Fifty-four rounds were fought in one hour and a half. Golden won the fight and Scullion was badly punished.

The Skeleton of a Murderer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.--Dr. Isaac Lea, of Stapleton, has the skeleton of Reinhardt, the wife-murderer, who was hanged. After Reinhardt was hanged his body was buried in Potter's Field at Richmond. His skeleton, complete to every bone, and suspended by a wire placed exactly where the hangman's rope was, with the whole held together by wires run through the marrow channels, hangs in a closet in Dr. Lea's consulting office.

Young Indian Slayers.
ALLANTOWN, NOV. 21.--Two Easton boys, aged twelve and thirteen years, whose minds had been affected by reading flashy novels, in which Indian killing and scalp taking formed the principal subjects, and who left home on Wednesday to go West and exterminate the aborigines, were captured in this city last evening and taken home.

One of the boys is a son of Daniel B. Wood, editor of the Easton Free Press, and the other is a son of Charles Chidsey. Before leaving home the boys wrote a note informing their parents of their intention.

Yale College Finances.
NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 21.--The report of the Treasurer of Yale College has been submitted, and shows the aggregate amount of invested funds to be $1,924,338, an increase over the year of 1882 of $77,698. The expenditures of the year have been $232,827. By rigid economy the fund is increasing and is divided as follows: University, $464,890; Academic, $344,116; Theological, $330,356; Sheffield Scientific $143,193; Medical School, $30,995; Law School, $11,000, and Art School, $90,179.

Prize Fight and Riot.
OTTAWA, ONT., Nov. 21.--W. L. Beaudry recently returned from Chicago to his home in Manitowish, near here. On Friday last he fought a prize fight for $50 a side with W. C. Clark of the same place. In the eighth round Beaudry broke Clark's right arm near the shoulder. After the fight a general row occurred at the Davidson Hotel. Pistol shots were fired and many persons were wounded. Both principals belong to respectable farming families.

Porter Acquitted.
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.--The jury in the case of Wm. Porter, on trial for murder of John Walsh in "Shang" Drapers' saloon, on the morning of October 16th, has brought in a verdict of acquittal.

MURDERED BY BURGLARS

MAN SHOT DOWN IN HIS OWN HOME

Cashier of an Indiana National Bank Roused in the Night and Killed By a Prowling Thief--Great Excitement.

CONNERSVILLE, IND., Nov. 21.--Edward Payne, cashier of the First National bank, lived in a pleasant home with his wife and children. Arouned by an unusual noise in the night, he was coming down stairs at 4 o'clock this morning, when a burglar standing in the hall below fired with fatal aim. Payne sank on the stairs and the assassin and his comrade in crime fled. The family were aroused by the report of the pistol, hastily arose, and hurried to the spot. Medical aid was hastily summoned, but the wounded husband and father, was past human help, he quickly breathed his last in the arms of his wife. A search through the house showed that the burglars had been interrupted in their nefarious work before securing any booty. A vigorous search is being made for the murderer, and as the alarm so quickly followed the crime it is thought that he will certainly be found by nightfall. The country is being aroused by armed parties. Business in the town is practically suspended. In Connorsville, where the murdered man was well and favorably known, the feeling is very intense, and the murder is the one theme of conversation.

THE C. B. & Q. ACCIDENT.
Severe Censure By the Coroner's Jury.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.--The Coroner's jury which has been investigating the recent fatal collision on the C. B. & Q. railroad, near this city, have returned a verdict finding that the accident was caused by the carelessness of Conductor Wm. H. Doyle and Engineer Young, of the wild freight, which crashed into the passenger train, the freight train at the time being run at an excessive rate of speed. Another cause, the jury say, was the gross indiscretion of George Alexander, Superintendent, and A. Miller, train dispatcher, of the Burlington road, as well as that of Daniel Wedge, local yard master, in sending out a freight train so heavily loaded as to be unmanageable, and with about all the cars supplied with defective brakes. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of all the men.

HORRIBLY MURDERED.
Brutal Outrage By Five Mexican Fiends.

ALBUQUERQUE, NOV. 21.--One of the foulest murders ever committed in this territory has just come to light. The murdered person is a boy named Candoloria. The body was discovered in the vineyard of one Jose Anzel Perca. It seems that Candoloria and Perca had a long and bitter feud, and the latter enticed the former to his house and beat his brains out with a club, the four grown daughters of Perca assisting in the deed. The body was at first buried in the barn, but afterwards taken up and interred in the vineyard. A little five-year-old son of Perca gave the murder away. All were arrested and are now in jail. There are fears of lynching on account of the great excitement among the Mexican population.

Mr. Cornwallis West and Mrs. Langtry.
ST. LOUIS, MO., Nov. 21.--Mr. Cornwallis West, husband of the famous English beauty, is here by invitation of Jay Gould. Referring to the attacks made on the reputation of Mrs. Langtry, he said: "She has suffered some in reputation by her American experience, and I call it a great shame. Much of what has been written about her is scandalously false, and the rest, I think, is the result of a harmless fancy on her part. It is really too bad that the newspapers should do so. If it had been a man now it would have been different, but being a woman, I call it a little cowardly. Her reputation here will not affect her standing in England."

COUNTERFEITERS.

A Year's Chase for a Backwoods Indiana Gang—History of a Party Who Had Terrorized the Country for Years.

Cincinnati Post.

For many years that portion of Indiana located in the hills back of the Ohio river and locally determined as Pikeville, Pike county, has been known as a "Hell on earth." A gang of desperadoes, who grew bolder by their success, ran the town and ruled the surrounding country, and intimidated even the authorities. Last February, Capt. Abbot, of Cleveland, chief of the secret service district, which includes Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan, received direct orders to go down into Pike county and clean out a gang of counterfeiters. It was well known that counterfeit coin of superior make emanated from that region, but it was another thing to get the evidence which would secure a conviction under the law. Abbot and three assistants began the work, and followed and captured thirteen of the shrewdest shovers of the queer that were ever landed in one net. It was known as the Houchins gang, and comprised Jesse, Joe and Columbus Houchins, Barney Smitten, David Wesley Wood, Zim Kinder, Henry Grossman, Joe Perkins, William Taylor, William Redman, Jake Crezelous, and Tom and Laura Ann Comer.

Tom Comer is regarded by the officers of the secret service as one of the most expert and dangerous counterfeiters in the country. In 1880 he was convicted in this city, under the name of Harry Homer, of counterfeiting, and sent to the pen for eight years. He also admitted that he had served a term for counterfeiting before the war. Laura, his wife helped make the goods, and made trips through the country selling and passing. The price for the spurious ranged from 20 to 35 cents on the dollar. Laura and Tom have been married but two years, and are very devoted to each other. She is a Kentuckian, and rather lady-like. "I don't care what you do with me if you will only let Tom go," she wailed to the officers. Tom says: "I am old crook, and you've got my record. Send me up but for God's sake let Laura go."

The Houchins, the leaders, lived near Pikeville, a disreputable hole fourteen miles from the nearest railroad. It has bare two hundred inhabitants, including five houses of ill-fame and three saloons where the worst kind of five-cent whisky is sold. The Houchins ran the neighborhood. They were not men of extraordinary size or strength, but terrorized over the community by reason of their readiness with revolver and knife. The sheriff of Pike county had six indictments against them for various crimes, and never dared to make an attempt to arrest them. They even forced people to take their counterfeit coin.

Two of the Houchins went into Burnett's saloon, one day, absorbed a couple of drinks of five-cent whisky, and threw down a counterfeit $5 gold piece. The saloonist, who had seen that kind of coin before, protested that he couldn't take it. "Lum" Houchins whipped out a revolver and said with an oath, "You've got to take it," and Burnett counted out $4.00 in good coin of the realm. Afterward, when the saloonist complained of the act they forced him to shut up shop and skip the town.

Since their capture many persons have appeared to testify against the gang who did not dare to say a word while they were at large. Taylor, one of the gang, was the son of a respectable father. He was promised a light sentence if he would tell the whole history of the gang, but he boldly swore he never handled a dollar of counterfeit money in his life. His father told the officers that the gang had frequently robbed him, but he never dared complain. Zim Kinder, another of the gang, swore that the first time he ever rode on a railroad train was when he was arrested and taken to Indianapolis. Zim was weaned a counterfeiter. His father was an expert, and the boy took lessons in the art from his mother at a very early age. Zim is the stalwart of the gang, was captured by strategy in a hotel at Booneville, where he was induced to go as a "jobber," to dispose of a stock of the spurious coin. Several of the detectives had, under disguises, worked their way into the secrets of the counterfeiters, and purchased large quantities of the spurious stuff. One of these men induced Zim to go to a hotel, where he was introduced to a powerful officer who clapped the handcuffs on him at the first greeting.

The chief man in securing evidence against the Houchins was a detective who sailed under the name of "Doc Henderson." He was a corn doctor, and had panaceas for numerous other ills, and gathered in much bogus coin and a large amount of evidence. He was at Joe Houchins' house on the night of the capture and the party were planning a robbery when Abbot and a Marshal's posse descended on the house. The Houchins had braced the doors, as was their custom, and the first assault of the outsiders aroused their suspicions. They opened fire on Henderson and his friends, and the conflict became general. "Lum" Houchins' first act was to seize the lamp and dash it on the floor, leaving the combatants in darkness. When the melee was over Joe Houchins was found with a babe in his arms, put there by his wife. The babe was on the right side and a bullet had entered Joe's breast just above the right nipple, inflicting what was supposed to be a fatal wound. The babe's clothing was covered with blood. Joe's wife insisted that he had been holding the infant all the time, but that was impossible. Jesse ran, and was captured at a farm-house four miles distant. "Lum" was found hiding in the room where the fight occurred. Beside Joe's wound Jesse was shot in the groin and body, and Lum in the arm. Of the attacked party "Henderson," or Killian, the detective, was badly wounded in the hand. Joe was left in the house to die, but he's getting better and has, with all others captured, been indicted. Their trials will begin at Indianapolis next week. The other members of the gang were gathered in with less trouble. With the gang were captured about $2,500 in bogus coin, all the molds and other apparatus used in the manufacture, beside a perfect arsenal of arms, including fourteen self-cocking revolvers and a number of brass and lead knuckles. One pair weighed over three pounds, were sharp-pointed, and in the hands of a strong man would easily fell an ox. Tom Comer had a double barreled shot-gun, and two magnificent 44-calibre self-cockers. These shooters will be returned to the families of the captured men, if demanded; otherwise, they are sent with the spurious coin, molds, etc., to Washington.

The machinery for the manufacture of the coin was not cumbersome, and could be easily transported from place to place. It consisted of plaster of paris molds and the receptacle for the metals. The coin manufactured included gold pieces of the denomination of $10, $5, and $2, and silver dollars, halves, quarters and dimes. Nickels were also made. The principal ingredients were bismuth, antimony, block tin and Babbitt metal. Some other ingredient was used to make the gold counterfeiters heavier. They were afterward coated in an electro-plating bath. The casts were made in two pieces and joined by a blow pipe. The plating covers this joint.

The task of working up the case against these men was no easy one. Several detectives were required to masquerade for nearly a year as thieves and gamblers. All were required to make daily reports of their doings to the chief, and these in turn are forwarded with the chief's daily report to Washington. All the captured parties were photographed, and each one's history sent therewith to the department of justice in Washington. Often indictments and convictions on other counts are kept hanging over the criminals, and when they are released from one term they can easily, if their course of life demands it, be hauled up and punished again without trouble. Of the present gang nearly all will be wanted by the State authorities when the terms for present offenses expire. In Indiana an indictment runs out in two years if the culprit is at large, but if in custody, it holds good until the sentence is served out. The members of the gang just captured stuck to each other well, and but one of the thirteen offered to turn State's evidence. As his testimony is not needed, his offer will probably not be accepted.

The Democratic party has been extremely successful in nursing General Butler until he has got big enough to bite. He cannot command many votes; but they may be enough to make a dangerous inch on the nose of a Democratic majority.

The Western Tobacco Journal says: That the severe weather of the past eight or ten days damaged tobacco in barns can not be denied, and especially green and late cut tobacco. Some planters as usual bear the brunt of the losses, and this is owing in a great degree to the fact that but poor protection is offered. Those planters having good tight barns rarely lose much in this manner. Of course the fault is not with the planter in every case, as the planting season was unusually late, and the tobacco was left in the field late in order to get the benefit of the fine weather prevailing during the latter part of the season.

The Vanceburg Courier in announcing the marriage of Miss Verde Boyd, of Levana, to Mr. Thomas Thompson, of this city, on the 29th inst., says:
Miss Boyd will be pleasantly remembered by our young people, having been a guest of friends here during the past summer, at which time she made many warm and lasting friends. Mr. Thompson is a Lewis boy, and now one of the rising young business men of Maysville. The future has never opened more brightly to a wedded pair than it has in this instance. May it always so appear.

The following is from the Portsmouth (O.) Tribune:

Mary Alleman, daughter of Eri Alleman, of Turkey Creek, and Cora Wright, a model of the same name, disappeared mysteriously from the parental roof over a week ago. They were seen carrying a trunk down to the Emma Graham a week ago Friday, and that is the last known of them. Mr. Alleman and the officers were in search of them, but have been unable to get any clue to their whereabouts.

Deputy Marshal Browning, this morning, found the young ladies named above at Aberdeen where they had been serving as domestics since Saturday the 10th inst. They arrived in Maysville on the 9th and registered at the Central Hotel as Miss Vane and sister, and the following day went to Aberdeen. They have conducted themselves in a lady-like way and are well spoken of by the persons with whom they lived. The fathers of both the young ladies are in the city and will take them home to-day.

Wills Fyffe to L. V. Davis, house and lot on west side of Court street; consideration $3,000.

Mr. L. D. TOLLE, of Rectortown, passed through Maysville to-day on his way home, with two fine Spanish jacks and one jennet. He proposes to improve the stock of his neighborhood.

Odd, Isn't It?

Portsmouth (Ohio) Tribune.
Maysville has a historical society. She also allows pigs to run at large in her streets.

United Worship for White and Black.
CHATTANOOGA, TENN., Nov. 21.—At the Convention of the Congregational Association, after considerable discussion resolutions were passed advocating equality among Christians of all races in religious communion, and strongly condemning the present system of separate churches for white and black Christians. Distinguished Congregationalists from all parts of the South were present. Little Rock, Ark., was chosen as the next place of meeting.

Stealing a Red-Hot Stove.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—The weather was cool and the attention of John Slater, who had no stove nor money enough to buy one, was attracted by the bright fire in the cabin of a vessel lying at Race street, and, picking up the hot stove, he started home with it. He had not gone far when an officer took him into custody, and he was afterwards examined and held for trial.

Civil Engineer Murdered.

LEADVILLE, COLO., Nov. 21.—S. H. White, a civil engineer on the Denver and South Park Railway, has been murdered by I. Cupper, at Robinson. White has a brother in Chicago named Randall White who is a justice of the peace.

Printer's Strike in Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, Nov. 21.—All the compositors employed at the office of the Brooklyn Free Press went on a strike Tuesday morning because of a refusal of their demand for increase of wages from 32 cents to 45 cents per 1000 ems. It was said that the compositors on the Brooklyn Eagle, would also strike.

Poole Sentenced to Death.

DUBLIN, Nov. 21.—The second trial of Joseph Poole, for the murder of John Kenney, has been concluded and resulted in conviction and sentence to death. Poole admitted he was a Fenian, and demanded three cheers for the Irish Republic and cursed England.

Every 821 individuals in England and Wales have a policeman to look after them. From returns just published the total number of criminal classes still at large and not yet in jail was last year 39,000 while the number of policeman in England and Wales, including over 12,000 for the metropolis alone, was a trifle over 35,000 men. Thus there seems to be a nice balance, there being nearly one policeman to every known law-breaker. The total cost of each policeman is $490 a year.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla works directly and promptly, to purify and enrich the blood, improve the appetite, strengthen the nerves, and brace up the system. It is in the truest sense an alternative medicine. Every invalid should give it a trial.

New Books.

Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi," "Tom Sawyer," "Innocents Abroad," Will Carleton's "Farm Ballads," "Farm Legends," "Farm Festivals." For sale by M. & K. n17dlm

If people troubled with colds would take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before going to church or places of entertainment, they would avoid coughing, greatly to the comfort of both speakers and hearers. Public speakers and singers find that the pectoral wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

Lost Faith in Physicians.

There are innumerable instances where cures have been effected by Scoville's Sarsaparilla, or Blood and Liver Syrup, for all diseases of the blood, when the patient has been given up by physicians. It is one of the best remedies ever offered to the public, and as it is prepared with the greatest care, as a specific for certain diseases, it is no wonder that it is more effectual than hastily written and carelessly prepared prescriptions. Take Scoville's Blood and Liver Syrup for all disorders arising from impure blood. It is endorsed by all leading professional men.

BORN.
